

Course Information

| Prefix & number | Title                                     |
|-----------------|---|
| EDST 557        | Professional Ethics and School Leadership |
| Instructor      | Prerequisites or restrictions (if any)    |
| Sam Rocha       | None                                      |

| Focus or Content   |
|--|
| A study of ethics, politics, social and moral philosophy through film, literature, and popular philosophy and directed towards questions from and for professionals who occupy, or seek to occupy, positions of school leadership. |

| Goals, Objectives or Learning Outcomes  |
|---|
| Learning how to make analogically clear and self-critical associations between texts and one's professional life and experience. Appreciation for the complexity and variety of views and arguments in ethics, politics, social and moral philosophy. Improving argumentation and interpretation through writing. |

| Assignments or Assessment Process   |
|---|
| A running series of short writing assignments: Meaningful Analogies/Associations Papers and Four-Sentence Papers. |

| Notes/Other |
|-------------|
|             |